Had quite a party at the Foyer du Soldat last night. First, four ladies gave a piano quartette selection, with two pianos. Excellent. Then a comical, middle-aged Frenchman sang some songs, apparently funny. We enjoyed his gestures. Then a cute boy of about nine recited some pieces. A born actor. Had several encores. The next, a French sergeant, was missing, having unexpectedly been sent to the front. One of our fellows imitated a ballyhoo artist for a side show. Following this a Frenchman sang some serious songs, in a splendid voice., The next act was given by three of our boys, in song and dance. One, in blackface, with a Central American uniform, gold helmet, etc., made a big hit. Another Froggie, this time with a guitar; a recitation by one of our men, Invictus, and more French songs, led up to the (hot) climacteric finale, a real Alabam shimmy dancer. The place was overcrowded with convalescent French troops, including black colonials, English aviators, Americans hiking across country, including a few negroes, and our Stat. Section. I suppose the American acts were all Iroquois to them as their French phrase runs, but they appreciated it all. (Diary) Monday, 26 August. Played checkers at FdS with a French soldier. Beat me three times at his own game, and then two of three games with American rules. Beginning to pity Ludendorff. summer resort one time? Can you recall her Christian...
